

Level 3 Award in Education and Training

About the course

This is an introductory teaching course, for people interested in becoming a teacher or trainer in the post-16 education and skills sector. It is also suitable for people who are new to teaching, or who have to deliver teaching or training as part of their role. You may wish to earn money by teaching your hobby, skill or trade to others. This course will provide you with the practice and the confidence to do so.

Course content

The course will cover the basic skills and knowledge required when teaching:

- Roles, responsibilities and relationships in education
- Creating an inclusive learning environment
- Using inclusive teaching and learning approaches
- Lesson planning
- Assessing learning

How will I be assessed?

You are required to complete 3 units¹ with a total of 12 credits. These are as follows:

- Understanding roles, responsibilities and relationships in education & training (3 credits)
- Understanding and using inclusive approaches in education & training (6 credits)
- Understanding assessment in education & training (3 credits)

You will also:

- Complete written assignments
- Attend 6 group learning sessions
- Evaluate basic classroom teaching sessions delivered by your peers
- Deliver a short micro-teach on a topic of your choice

¹ If you are interested in working as an assessor, there are optional units that that you can earn credits for. Please speak to a member of the team for more information.

Entry requirements

There are no formal entry requirements for the course. You will need a reasonable computing skills and a good level of English to manage your online portfolio and written assignments. Within the profession, you need maths and English skills to a Level 2 standard, and we will advise you on further study, if you identify this an area for development.

Cost - £600

Contact us: For more information, please contact Megan Thoresson at megan.thoresson@gloucestershire.gov.uk. Please provide a contact number so that we can get in touch with you via telephone.