

Early Years Childminder Newsletter - March 2025

Dear Childminders,
Welcome to your March Newsletter.

New DFE changes to funding

I am aware there is much concern for childminders following the latest guidance for funded childcare. The Early Years service is working through the document to understand the changes and we will share the bullet points with providers as soon as we can. Please email concerns to Caroline.vans@gloucestershire.gov.uk.

Early Education and Childcare - GOV.UK

I wanted to share some of the wonderful examples of good practice I have seen out on visits recently.

One childminder has created a beautiful family picture wall with pictures of extended family at various events such as holidays and festivals. This had created a rich opportunity for the children to talk about their experiences. Another good idea was pictures displayed in frames which lifted up to provide storage for previous works of art ready to be sent home.

I am collecting examples of written curriculums in Childminder settings if anyone has one they would like to share please let me know.

In this newsletter there is information about future Childminding Network sessions, the dates of some evening SENCO cluster meetings, and a new useful Early Years Alliance website to share with parents. There is also information about subitising, Beep Beep! day and some lovely Stronger Practice Hub CPD opportunities.

What more would you like to know about children's behaviour?

This free 1-hour session is an informal space in which childminders can learn a little more about children's behaviour - and potentially about your own!

The session aims to:

- Share some general information about children's behaviour
- Explore some of the behaviour you might find challenges you
- Help understand the motivation behind children's behaviours
- Give suggestions of how common behaviours can be addressed
- Assist you in helping to foster children's behaviour for learning

You'll gain a greater insight into the influences behind your own style.
