

The Theory and Practice of Nurture Groups

A Three Day Training Course for those wishing to develop their understanding of Nurture Groups which can contribute to The Nurture Group Network's Quality Mark Award

Course Tutors: The Nurture Group Network Training Team Supported by Gloucestershire Educational Psychologists

Course Aims

- :: Understand emotional and social barriers to learning, particularly those related to the impact of attachment relationships and developmental trauma.
- :: To equip those who are involved with setting up or run a Nurture Group or Inclusion Support Service for pupils with SEMH needs in Primary, Secondary, and Specialist settings.
- :: Receive a copy of the 'Boxall Profile' and 'Beyond the Boxall Profile' and training in how to use it to assess/intervene for emotional and social needs.
- :: Opportunity to complete an assignment following the course to enable certified accreditation.
