

GRWW1 5d Zeppelin Heading

A Zeppelin flies to Britain on a mission - you need to use a protractor to work out the compass heading of each leg of its flight. North (000° degrees) is at the top, marked by an arrow. Headings are usually given as a three-digit number and five headings have been measured for you.

