

SUPPORTING SELF-HARMING STUDENTS

20.05.2025 15.30pm – 17.30pm

The session aims to build knowledge and confidence on the topic of self-harm to improve response to disclosures. The session covers:

statistics

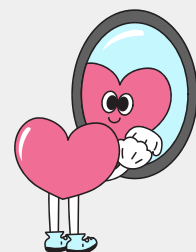

definition

triggers

functions

best practice
response to a disclosure
including
language use

how to broach
suspected
self-harm

This robust training session will remove the taboo of the subject matter to increase the confidence of all professionals in providing support for children and young people who are self-harming or have suicidal thoughts but also for those who self-harm to feel empowered to seek support.

This two hour training session is a condensed version of the full day training course, but through feedback, this subject matter has been requested by staff from all schools across Gloucestershire. We would welcome as many staff as possible to attend this webinar, teaching and non-teaching as it is those front line staff who often come across instances of self-harm or are party to disclosures.

This training will be facilitated by Satveer Nijar from Attention Seekers Training
