Advance Notice: Overnight closures 8pm to 5am on the nights of 16 to 20 November and 23 to 24 November 2026.

Dear Resident/Business Owner,

We are approaching the final stage of the project and want to bring you up to date with the latest plans for resurfacing and signal commissioning works. Therefore, we are writing to let you know about upcoming overnight road closures on Black Dog Way, Bruton Way and London Road commencing on 16th November for 7 nights (weekdays only).

When will the roads be closed?

The roads will be closed overnight from 8pm to 5am:

- 16 to 20 November
- 23 and 24 November

There will be no closures over the weekend, and the roads will reopen at 5am after each night's work. Signed diversion routes will be in place.

Access during the overnight closures

- Pedestrian access will remain available along London Road, Black Dog Way and Bruton Way, although some crossing points and routes will temporarily change.
- The temporary pedestrian crossing on Bruton Way will be closed. Pedestrians walking towards London Road will need to use the crossing near the Gloucester Transport Hub (bus station).
- Emergency vehicles will not be able to travel through the closure while resurfacing is taking place, to keep the workforce safe. If emergency access is needed to a property within the closure, our traffic management team will provide escorted access.
- Anyone travelling to the hospital overnight should follow the signed diversion route.
- Access for Alvin Street residents and visitors will be via Kingsholm Road only, during the night closures.

What will happen during the day?

- The roads will reopen each morning, but temporary traffic management will remain in place while the work is completed.
- The existing one-way arrangements on Alvin Street and London Road between Black Dog Way and Great Western Road will remain in place until the final overnight closure. Temporary traffic lights will also be used on Black Dog Way and Bruton Way to safely manage vehicles and pedestrians, as the junction will no longer operate as a roundabout.
- Hospital access will remain available during the day via the London Road one way system or the signed diversion.

What happens after the final overnight closure?

- From the morning of 25 November, the one-way system on both London Road and Alvin Street will be removed.
- Temporary three-way traffic lights will be in place at the Bruton Way/Black Dog Way/London Road junction for a short period while the new permanent traffic signals are brought into operation. This is expected to take place between 25 and 27 November. Please allow extra time for your journey, as some delays may occur.

- During this period, Northgate Street bus gate will remain closed to buses and taxis until the permanent traffic signals are fully operational.
- As a reminder, vehicles travelling along London Road can no longer turn right onto Black Dog Way. This is a permanent prohibition and has been in place since early 2026.
- These works are the final major phase of construction for the scheme. Once the permanent traffic signals are operating, we will monitor traffic flows and adjust the signal timings where needed to help the junction operate as efficiently as possible for all road users.

What work will be carried out?

During the overnight closures, we will:

- resurface the road
- complete work needed for the new traffic signals
- adjust manholes and other ironwork to the new road level
- install new road markings
- carry out drainage cleaning and surveys
- install new lanterns on lighting columns.

These works have been planned and coordinated alongside Gloucestershire County Council.

We understand that these works may be disruptive, and we apologise for any inconvenience caused. Thank you for your patience and understanding while these important improvements are being made.
