Job: Learning Mentor UASC

What is important to me:

I love my family and community. I want to work towards making the world a better place to live and challenging inequality and prejudice.

What I like doing:

I thrive of experiences, such as culture. I love live music, walking my dog in the countryside, going to exhibitions and events, riding my bike and living in Stroud.

I like cooking for my family and friends.

How I hope we can work together:

Education is key to people's future.

I hope we can support young people to become valued members of their community by helping them to get the most out of education, and educational institutions to get the most out of their students.
