INTRODUCTION	There are many fabulous diary extracts from WW1 to read to the children - small chunks can be taken from a variety of sources - see Harry Patch and Harry Drinkwater's recounts online or in resources; http://www.bbc.co.uk/history/worldwars/wwone/last_tommy_gallery_03.shtml http://www.dailymail.co.uk/news/article-2491760/Harry-Drinkwaters-lost-diary-Great-War.html Get children to imagine that they have spent time on the frontline and must now keep a diary of their everyday life in the trenches. By reading some of the extracts above, children will be able to get a good image in their head of the conditions in the trenches as well as possibly using some of the emotive words and phrases to help them develop their own writing.

	Model on board a diary extract and take good ideas from children as you go - see resources.
MAIN ACTIVITY	Children have a go at writing their diary extracts. You may need to give children some starter sentences to get them going (see examples). Stop throughout to allow children to share their work and give others ideas.
PLENARY	Children should be encouraged to read out their work and share with other children. Make time for peer and self-assessment where possible. Children should be encouraged to write their diary extract or extracts up in best to make them look authentic for display purposes.
